

The new Hainan Airlines (HU) International Lounge—Prime Wings Lounge, located across from Gate 12 in Beijing Capital International Airport's Terminal 2, welcomes VIP guests a more enjoyable and serene travel experience.

The Lounge was designed by Dr. Patrick Leung, a well-known architect and interior designer from Hong Kong. The modern aesthetic style is a refreshingly contemporary approach that combines natural materials to create an elegant and refined environment for airline guests, and it is enabling them to relax and recharge in an extremely busy transportation hub.

The spacious VIP lounge can accommodate up to 150 visitors, and it contains more than a dozen different areas to choose from, including a lounge with a traditional Chinese tea art display, rooms for reading, relaxation and sleeping, showers and wet rooms, an exclusive VIP area, and an audio-visual room. The top-class Lounge team provides guests with custom-made meals.
